Canadian County Prescription Drop Boxes

Most people who abuse prescription opioid drugs get them for free from a friend or relative, but those at highest risk of overdose are as likely to get them from a doctor's prescription. Data has shown that the majority of all people who use opioids for nonmedical reasons (using drugs without a prescription, or using drugs just for the "high" they cause) get the drugs from friends or family for free. Prevention efforts have focused on this group, emphasizing methods such as collecting unused medications through the OBN Drop Boxes that are aimed at providing a safe and convenient way of disposing of prescription drugs responsibly.

One way to help decrease prescription sharing is to properly dispose of your unwanted or expired medications through the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics (OBN) drop boxes. In Canadian County the drop boxes are located at the following locations:
